SYNOPSIS

The differences between a court setting and a private setting for arbitration pose different challenges for many young counsel and aspiring arbitrators; and at times, seasoned lawyers handling international commercial disputes who may not be familiar with the arbitral environment are not mindful of these differences. This SCMA workshop presents an excellent opportunity to learn from senior experienced arbitrators and International Arbitration lawyers on:

- The frequent mistakes made by counsels in pleadings and documents
- The mistakes that parties usually make or should know about before approaching the dispute
- Drafting of arbitration clauses – avoiding the common pitfalls
- How arbitrators think and work
- Getting into the “minds” of the arbitrators - what they look out for and what should not be done.
- Dealing with non-participative parties in the arbitration and the deemed effectiveness of the notice provision.

SPEAKER PROFILE

WINSTON KWEK

Winston has extensive experience in a wide variety of shipping related work ranging from marine insurance, ship sale and purchase, ship finance, casualty work, ship construction and repair, structured finance, commodities and charterparty disputes to shipping fraud cases.

He is the preferred counsel for banks and financial institutions, both local and international, when it comes to 'work--outs' (insolvency, re-structuring and mortgage enforcement) - having led the development of judicial direct sales of ships, both singly and in a fleet, arrested in Singapore to specific buyers instead of via the traditional Sheriffs public auctions.

Winston acted in the worldwide enforcement by HSH Nordbank AG against the Karahasan fleet of vessels, which was hotly contested and thus followed closely by the international shipping industry. The matter led to a change in Turkish law on arrests of Turkish-flagged vessels by foreign Courts.

More recently, in the context of the United Nations Sanctions against the Islamic Republic of Iran, Winston acted for a syndicate of banks (with Credit Agricole Corporate and Investment Bank acting as the security agent) in the enforcement of mortgages against and arrests of 3 vessels belonging to the Islamic Republic of Iran Shipping Lines ("IRISL"). The Singapore Admiralty Court being the first in the world to effect arrests of IRISL vessels, the matter attracted worldwide attention and was closely followed by the Office of Foreign Assets Control, US, and the Attorney-General's Chambers of Singapore.
